9 United States Bankruptcy Court Southern District of Florida	Case No. 01-33407-BKC-SHF- Intel (RYJO), Brian Utley, Raymond Hersh and Michael Reale file involuntary bankruptcy against Iviewit.com LLC		Case dropped upon Iviewit retaining counsel to replace counsel that was prior unknown, acting on the companies behalf. Case will be appealed based upon startling new evidence, once due process can be assured in a conflict free forum.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Iviewit was notified by investors in 2001 while doing a Private Placement with Wachovia that they were in a law suit with Proskauer Rose and an involuntary bankruptcy with Intel and former management. • Iviewit retained legal counsel to investigate how these legal actions could be instigated without shareholder or management consent. It was later learned that stolen intellectual properties were being funneled into companies set up by former counsel whereby they were the shareholders of the similar and identically named companies to the Iviewit companies. A sophisticated shell game of corporations and intellectual properties in attempt to defraud the United States, the inventors and shareholders. In so designing this artifice to defraud, applications in false inventors names for the Iviewit inventions was then filed fraudulently in violation of federal code and finally further prosecuted in over thirty countries in violation of international treaties.
