LEGAL EAGLE

ED Hayes is the dapper lawyer who represented the 9/11 families in their efforts to speed up payments from the Twin Towers Fund. The fund was represented by Proskauer Rose, the well-connected law firm of Corporation Counsel Michael Cardozo. But even after butting heads with the powers that be, Hayes has been rewarded with a seat on the governor's Steering Panel for the Judiciary which selects candidates for the bench in Long Island, Westchester and the city, except for Manhattan and The Bronx. Hayes was put on the panel by Gail Prudenti, the presiding justice of the Appellate Division, Second Department, an elegant Marymount alumna whose loyalty and independence has won her the title of "Queen of the Hardheads."
